Project Description, History (if any), and Partners Aviation Adventures is a one day summer education camp that we plan to sponsor for the first time during Page Community Days. It is a joint venture between the Hope-Page Schools, Tall Towers Aviation (Toby McPherson) and the Page Community Club. The camp will include a field trip to the Fargo Air Museum, a visit to Tall Towers Aviation and classroom education discussing aviation related careers as well as hands on design using aeronautic principles. The event will culminate with a design contest during Saturday's Community Days festivities. The Hope-Page School will provide bus and driver accommodations to Fargo as well as classroom space in the Page School for up to forty K-12 students. Tall Towers Aviation and the Page Community Club will provide money for design contest prizes. Education will be taught by a certified teacher.
Describe the Need or Justification for this Project and Its Educational Value in Aviation The purpose of the event is to raise awareness and create interest in aviation and aviation related occupations in the K-12 student population of Hope-Page and the surrounding communities. By raising awareness as well as providing education, students will be more knowledgeable about the career possibilities in this amazing field.
